PRESS RELEASE

TRENTON - The Professional Firefighters Association of New Jersey, IAFF, AFL-CIO, statewide representative of career professional firefighters, emergency medical and allied support service personnel affiliated with the 318,000 member International Association of Fire Fighters has announced their endorsements for the upcoming New Jersey Assembly and Senate special elections. "We continue to have challenging times here in New Jersey and we need legislators who have the same values of the Firefighters, EMS personnel and the working men and women who are the heart and soul of our great state", said Dominick Marino, President of the Professional Firefighters Association of New Jersey.

"As a professional firefighter's and emergency medical personnel labor union, we have made it a point to endorse and support candidates based upon either their performance or stated positions or a combination thereof concerning our issues, not their political affiliation. We pride ourselves on being a bipartisan group. We support those who support firefighters and EMS workers. Our membership consists of dedicated public safety professionals, hardworking taxpayers supporting families who cherish and exercise their right to vote—something too many aspiring politicians forget or purposely disregard when considering the value of our support. "Having the right people in the state legislature is paramount for firefighters and emergency medical personnel to ensure safe working conditions and the necessary equipment to safely perform the duties of fire responders. With the ever present threat of terrorist activity in New Jersey and the metropolitan area, we need legislators that will respond to our needs and the needs of all the citizens they represent. We believe our endorsed candidates will respond for the Firefighters, Emergency Medical Service personnel and all first responders of New Jersey."
